

WT Spring Enrollment Question Mark

West Texas State University officials are holding their breaths and crossing their fingers this week as they wait for students to begin registration procedures for the spring term.

Biggest question mark in the spring enrollment picture is the effect the fuel crisis will have on enrollment at the university.

And, it's the question nobody can answer.

Registration will be Friday and Saturday on campus and final figures won't be ready for evaluation on enrollment until after the 12th class day. Classes begin Monday.

Besides worrying about what effects the fuel crisis may have on enrollment, officials are also holding their breaths on the success of the newly established Amarillo continuing education center, where 25 advanced courses will be offered by WTSU for the term.

The university head count enrollment last spring turned out just above the 6000 figure with a full-time student equivalent of fewer than 5000.

"I don't know any more about it than anyone else does," Dr. Donald Cates, registrar, said Monday of the fuel crisis. "I know from visiting with several students that they are generally afraid it (the crisis and possibly resulting gas shortages or rationing) will catch them in the middle of the semester and break their back. They're fearful of it."

Cates said, on the other hand, the fuel crisis might have a positive effect by forcing students who might otherwise attend Texas Tech or other schools farther away from home to go to WTSU to save gasoline.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, new university president who during the first term this year engineered new approaches to student recruitment, said he hopes university head count enrollment will continue to climb.

Noting that the WTSU head count was up during the fall term compared to the 1972 total, he said he also hopes the full-time student equivalent will be up this term.

One factor the officials are hoping will mitigate the possible effects of the fuel crisis is the opening of the continuing education center at Bonham Junior High School in South Amarillo.

"I'm hopeful there'll be a good response to our Amarillo offerings and our other off-campus courses," Cates said.

Registration at the Amarillo center will be from 7-10 p.m. today in the foyer of the Bonham school, 5600 W. 49th.

Course offerings include 16 from the School of Business and nine from the School of Fine Arts and Colleges of Education and Arts and Sciences. One course will be offered at Northwest Texas Hospital and another two at the Panhandle Education Service

Help For WT, Quest For Industry Goals

Increased assistance to West Texas State University in student recruitment, and increased promotion of the location of industry in Canyon are two of 10 goals for 1974 passed by the Chamber of Commerce board Monday night.

Chamber board members approved the goals as well as a 1974 budget, which they hope to increase by $5000 as part of their upcoming program.

John Childs, chamber president, also unveiled plans to seek financing for a survey to be conducted by the School of Business at WTSU to help Canyon merchants assess their retail marketing techniques.

The survey, which will be funded through the Chamber, and through donations from local merchants, would "study retail merchandising" in town and show where we've gone astray," Childs told the board.

The School of Business performed a similar study for Friona last year.

The full story on the survey will be told merchants and chamber members at a meeting tentatively set for Jan. 26, according to Childs.

Among the goals and objectives set for the coming year were:

- *promote the location of light industry in the city
- *increase retail trade in the city by use of city-wide promotions and the survey
- *promote the construction of an interstate highway along current route of U.S. 60.
- *increase the chamber budget to $15,000 for the year

*increased assistance to WTSU in student recruitment

Board members examined a 1973 financial statement which indicates the chamber ended the year with a surplus of $1,098.

The proposed 1974 budget calls for expenditures to leave a year-end deficit of $21.

Income for the year is estimated at $11,574 and expenditures are expected to total $11,595.

In other business, the chamber board set tentative plans for a comic basketball game to be played in early February to help raise money for construction of a large marquee to be placed at the Canyon city limits to announce tourist attractions and coming events.

On the suggestion of Larry Hooper, board members decided to consider a raise in membership dues for the chamber. Dues are currently a minimum of $2 per month for individuals and a minimum of $5 per month for business firms.

Hooper said the last time dues were raised was 1965 and said it would be appropriate to raise them at this time.

A committee will study the idea.

Committee chairmen were also named during the meeting. Cordell Huddleston will head the membership and finance committee. Raymond Raillard and Jerry Williams will chair the tourism committee. Woody Pond will head the agriculture committee. Jim Brown and David West will chair the highway committee. Weldon Trice and Gene Glazener will head the education committee. George Stevens, Richard Tung and Lois Rice will head the business and community development committee, and Hooper will head the red carpet committee.

Board members made final plans for the Jan. 26 chamber of commerce banquet which will have as featured speaker Dr. Lloyd Watkins, new president of West Texas State.

Tickets for the annual banquet are $5 per person and are available from chamber board members or at the chamber office.

The dinner will be at the east dining hall of WTSU.

Citizen of the Year for 1973 will be recognized during the evening. The recipient of the honor was elected in secret Monday night by board members.

Canyon fireman T.J. Platt ventured out at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday to begin taking down the Christmas decorations on Canyon streets. Before the advent of daylight savings time, Platt would have been working in the light, but darkness prevailed as he climbed his ladder to remove the large candy canes.

WT Pharmacy School Bid Due Austin Presentation

West Texas State University officials will be in Austin Friday to make another bid for establishment of a School of Pharmacy on the Canyon campus.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, WTSU president, and Dr. Kenneth Laycock, vice president for planning and development, will appear before a special committee of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

The committee, consisting of leading pharmacists from throughout Texas, was established by the coordinating board to determine the need for a new School of Pharmacy in the state.

WTSU is among three universities vying for the school and will be second of the three to make its presentation before the committee Friday.

Friday morning, universities which now have a pharmacy program will make presentations before the seven-man committee.

During the afternoon, WTSU, Texas Tech and the University of Texas at Dallas will make their presentations.

The coordinating board tabled action on establishment of a new School of Pharmacy at a state institution in November, calling for further study of the situation. WTSU officials made a presentation at that session.

Texas Tech is seeking establishment of an undergraduate program in Pharmacy and a graduate program as well, leading to a doctorate degree.

West Texas State's proposal centers around an undergraduate program which is unique in its flexibility.

Watkins said the full coordinating board is to meet in Austin on Jan. 18, but he said he doubts the selection of a pharmacy school site will be on the agenda.

The study committee was originally charged with making recommendations some time in April, when a final decision is expected.

Watkins said the university will offer the same proposal to the committee it offered to the coordinating board as a whole during the Friday session.

Emphasis will be placed on the unique aspect of the proposed program, a two-track system which would allow undergraduate pharmacy majors to select after their fourth year of study in the five-year program whether to pursue their fifth year of work in the area of hospital pharmacy or community practice.

Junior Livestock Show Opens Friday, Ends Sat.

The 26th annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show will open for two days of frantic activity Friday at the J. O. Parker Memorial Building here.

Although activities begin early for the show and sale, judging won't begin until late Friday afternoon and will continue through the day Saturday.

Annual sale is set for 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Parker Building.

Horse judging will begin the series of contests at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the West Texas State University farm pavilion a mile north of Canyon.

Youngsters participating in the stock show will be treated to a free exhibitors breakfast at 7 a.m. Saturday. The breakfast, hosted and sponsored by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, will last until 8:30 a.m. at the local community center.

General superintendent of this year's show is Don Sheets. President of the junior livestock association is Wesley Bourn.

Other officers are Tommy (See SHOW, page 5)

Counsellor Named To All-State Team

Big Bob Counsellor, bulwark in the Canyon Eagle line last fall, has been named to the AAA All-State football team for the second year in a row.

Counsellor, who played at three positions this year, was named to the honor team in 1972 based on his play as an end.

This past fall, in spite of several injuries, Counsellor played at linebacker and end and offensive tackle.

Just before the season opened, Counsellor injured his elbow, but went on to start for the Eagles.

Then, during the next-to-last game of the season, he sustained a leg injury and missed the final season outing.

Due to various injuries among other squad members, Counsellor shifted early in the season to a defensive linebacker slot.

Eagle Coach Ron Mills touted Counsellor's efforts on offense this year and said in spite of the injuries, the CHS senior had a good year.

Counsellor was named to the (See TEAM, page 5)

County Gives Pay Raises, Closed Meet Questioned

The county judge, county commissioners and most county employees received 5.5 per cent salary hikes Monday but not before Dist. Atty. George Dowlen vowed to seek a state attorney general's opinion on whether discussion on across-the-board salary raises can be made behind closed doors.

Challenged by a Canyon News reporter, commissioners asked Dowlen to seek the opinion just before they closed their session to eye a three-page list of employees and discuss their salaries.

Earlier in the meeting, Asst. Dist. Atty. Jim Blair explained to commissioners the new Texas open meetings law but drew an initial challenge from News Editor Carroll Wilson on his interpretation of one clause in the new law.

Blair contended discussion of salaries for all employees was a valid reason for a closed session under the new law. Wilson contended it was not.

Wilson reiterated his contention in response to Judge Woody Pond, who told the press the commissioners were going into executive session to consider the salary hikes.

"I still believe that under the law you cannot hold a closed session for these salary hikes," Wilson said.

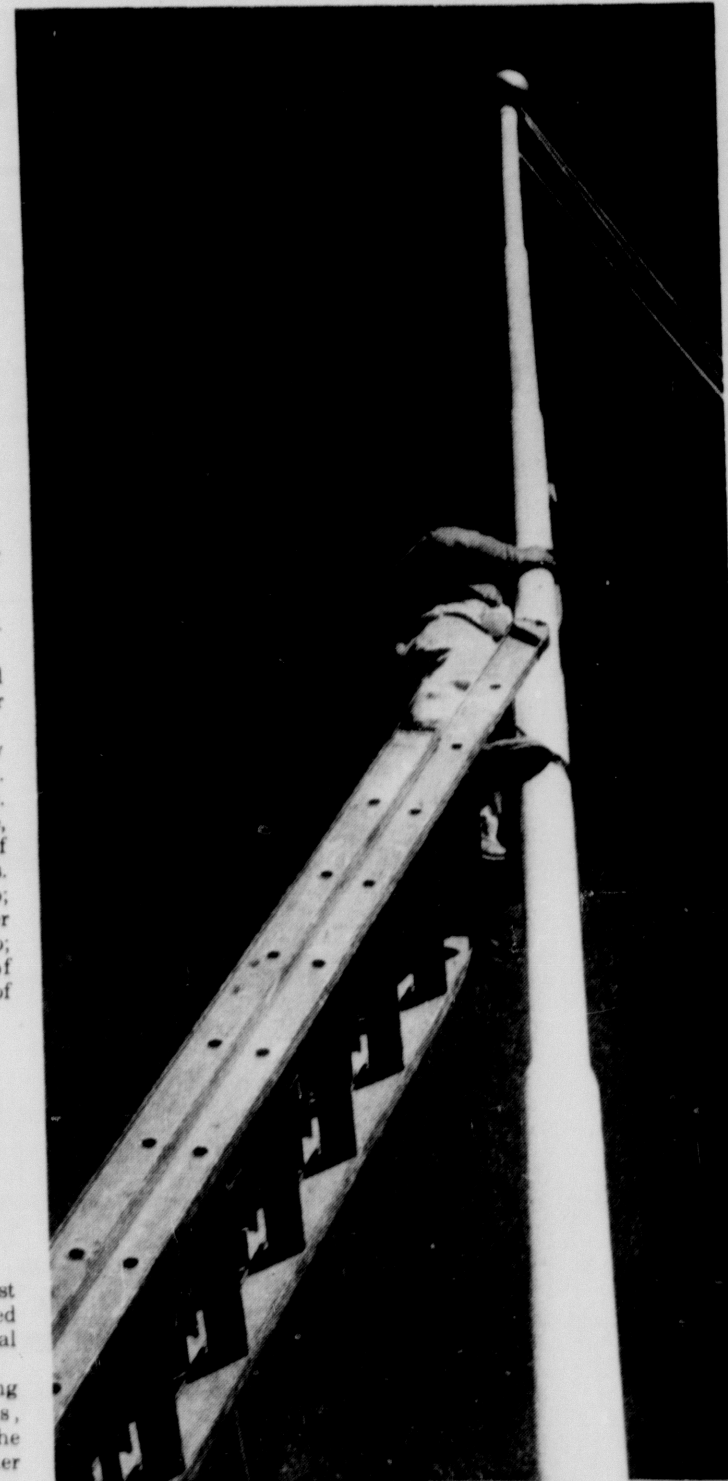

Dowlen and Blair returned to the courtroom and said they will seek the attorney general opinion.

During the closed door session, commissioners discussed the raises and then reopened their meeting to vote approval of the (See RAISES, page 5)

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Clare Boothe Luce in an article in the current Saturday Evening Post paints a grim picture of women's role in this "man's world."

But as is usual in any case where someone takes a premise and presents only facts which support it, the article is one-sided and extremely biased.

"All our social institutions that exercise power, generate wealth, create law, form the minds, and guide the actions and opinions of society are male dominated," said the distinguished lady who ought to know better.

Let's name a few women who made it in this "man's world."

Indira Gandhi and Golda Meir are two women prime ministers of important nations who only recently conducted wars that outwitted their male opponents. I hardly think of Golda and Indira as being objects of pity. Do you Mrs. Luce?

Mrs. Meir, a grandmother, as prime minister of Israel, is having as much to do with shaping the destiny of the world as any man alive. No one can deny that Mrs. Gandhi is a resolute leader of India in a time when the problems and dangers facing her country would boggle the minds of most men.

Two great English queens — Elizabeth I and Victoria — left indelible stamps on civilization matched by few male monarchs in history.

Having wisely chosen the men to surround her, Elizabeth was largely responsible for transplanting Anglo-Saxon culture in North America and is the undoubted mother of these United States.

Under Victoria, who had the good sense to pick Benjamin Disraeli as prime minister, the British Empire flourished to its zenith.

It wasn't a hat dance by a Roman general that got John the Baptist killed. It was a little Jewish temptress named Salome that wiggled the prophet's head under the ax.

Delilah delivered Samson up to his enemies and changed the course of Israel's history.

It was not uncommon in the day's of the Chinese Empire for a favorite wife or concubine of the emperor to do the actual ruling. The same thing happened in countless countries around the world.

Mrs. Luce wails that males dominate institutions which form the minds and guide the actions and opinions of mankind. How many men kindergarten and first grade teachers do you know? Not many, if any.

Perhaps Mrs. Luce has not heard the old proverb which truthfully says: "As the twig is bent, the tree is thus inclined."

No one could possibly have greater influence on the trend of opinion and thinking than those who teach in the lower elementary grades unless it would be a dutiful mother.

As for wealth, Mrs. Luce should interview a few heads of trust departments in the country's banks and she would find that the bulk of this country's wealth is concentrated in the hands of women who generally outlive their husbands by several years.

I agree with Mrs. Luce that producing children by the litter is no longer woman's role.

I also agree with Mrs. Luce that there should be some new legal approaches to the status of women but I do not agree that they are the malignant and pitiful creatures she paints in her article.

And the hand that rocks the cradle is still the hand that shapes the world.

I like Jerry Ford's approach to the Arab oil embargo. If they turn off the oil, let's turn off their food supply and see who gets along better without the other's product.

City Joins Waste Study

Canyon city commissioners voted Monday night to join with Randall and Potter counties and Amarillo on a study of solid waste disposal problems in the two-county area.

The resolution was passed unanimously. It had been presented the governing bodies of the four entities last month by L. O'Brien Thompson of Amarillo, a committee member on a solid waste disposal for the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

The resolution calls for further study of the problem and a joint and continuing effort to resolve the problem.

In other business, commissioners named the Rev. Baldwin Stribling and Dr. Myron Dees as the city's representatives to the Panhandle Regional Health Council. Stribling and Dees had served previously.

Dr. Ed Low was reappointed city health officer.

Commissioners also passed a resolution joining in a PRPC crime prevention information program which is scheduled for the Panhandle area.

Her candidacy is subject to the Democratic primary scheduled in May.

A native of Randall County, Mrs. Polvadore has been district clerk since June of 1970.

"Although the work load of the district clerk's office has more than doubled since the creation of a second district court in Randall County, the number of personnel in the clerk's office has remained the same and operating cost has risen only slightly," she said. "One of the ways we have modernized our procedures is by the implementation of a new system for summoning jurors at a substantial economic saving to the county."

In addition, Mrs. Polvadore said a more efficient means of handling increasing volumes of child support checks received through the clerk's office has been devised under her tenure.

"By implementation of these new procedures, we have avoided the necessity of adding at least two more employees to the office staff," she said.

Mrs. Polvadore, 37, is a graduate of Happy High School and attended West Texas State University.

She has 17 years of legal experience and for almost two years was with the U.S. attorney's office in Anchorage, Alaska. She has also worked with the Potter County district attorney's office.

Currently, Mrs. Polvadore is a member of the County and District Clerk's Association of Texas and is on the legislative committee and the constitution revision committee of that group. She is a member of Paramount Baptist Church.

News Brief

She was the only Panhandle representative elected to a state association office.

The organization is of young people 18 years of age or under who are interested in improving and promoting the American Quarter Horse.

Museum Head Begins Work

By ANN MELIN

"I guess you could say mine is the commonplace approach to history," says James Austin Hanson, a 26-year-old Midwesterner who has assumed duties this month as associate director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

The Colorado native with a doctorate in American history says he takes greater interest in "the little people and small events in history than in the extraordinary figures and occurrences."

"I'm no Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not fan," he says.

Hanson, a 1965 graduate of Northwestern High School in Hyattsville, Md., received a bachelor of science degree in education from Chadron, Neb. State College in 1969, and a master of science degree in education from Chadron in 1970. He was awarded a Ph.D. in history from the University of Wyoming in 1973.

Hanson will assume duties as museum director upon the retirement of Boone McClure, who presently holds the position and is scheduled to retire Sept. 1.

The son of a civil engineer, Hanson variously resided in Colorado, Nebraska, Ohio and Washington, D.C. In Chadron, Neb., Hanson's father was on the board of trustees for the Museum of the Fur Trade, and it was at an early age that Hanson's acquaintance with museum work first began.

"You could say I've had 20 years experience in museum work — I began learning about museum operation when I was about six years old," Hanson says.

At age 18, Hanson was appointed curator of the Museum of the Fur Trade, and from Dec., 1972 until he accepted his present post, Hanson served as director of that historical institution.

He has also been a graduate and teaching assistant at the University of Wyoming, and a museum consultant for the Wyoming state museum system.

Hanson was recipient of the Smithsonian Institution study grant for research on Plains Indians in 1972. A book he authored concerning the material culture of the Western Sioux is scheduled for publication soon by the University of Nebraska Press.

Recently, the associate professor returned from six-weeks research tour of Europe.

Hanson says the role of a historical museum is "to tell a story."

"The museum represents visual chapters in a book and if it doesn't tell the complete story, it's not doing its job."

Hanson says the events of the past "don't have to be justified — they occurred, they had their effects."

"As Karl Marx said, 'history is its own justification.' I agree with that statement and only wish I'd said it first," Hanson says.

His "commonplace approach" to history, he says, holds that what the American people ate and wore, what kind of habitations they dwelled in and what activities they engaged in, affected their attitudes far more than "who was in the White House at the time."

Hanson says one of the reasons he assumed duties as associate director of the Panhandle-Plains Museum was his agreement with the philosophy and goals of that institution.

Basically, he says, that philosophy holds that the role of the museum is to collect and preserve artifacts and to exhibit them in such a fashion that they tell the Panhandle story. Another primary purpose of the institution, he says, is to foster historical research and study, to publish articles and monographs concerning the region's history and culture.

"It's really a very conservative outlook," he says.

Hanson says many museums in the nation seem to have "given way to artists instead of historians."

"I call it the 'fishnet effect' in which the displays are laid out in artistic fashion, perhaps with a fishnet draped behind them. A visitor might have to walk a mile to look at, maybe, 50 artifacts. And after looking at the displays, he doesn't get any story from them," Hanson says.

The associate director says he hopes the museum and the West Texas University departments involved in related historical studies will have a "good relationship," under his administration.

"I would be happy to consult with any of the professors interested in our work here," he says. "A museum would not be doing its duty if it weren't using the expertise of qualified persons in the area."

The immediate task ahead for Hanson will be the preparation of the old University Library for museum use.

Although the museum plans to occupy the facility immediately, Hanson says it will require considerable time and expense to renovate the structure for museum use.

Seeking Of WTSU President Tops '73 News Stories

Events surrounding the selection of a new West Texas State University president top the list of the top 10 news stories of 1973 in the view of The News editorial staff.

The selection procedure consumed major story after major story on the front pages of The News during the first six months of the year and the events since the naming of Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins as president have also made major news week by week.

The record $12 million wheat crop harvested by Randall County farmers ranks as the second major news story of the year.

A $10 million lawsuit filed in federal district court against several members of the well-known Whittenburg family in Amarillo and the owners of the Amarillo Globe-News ranks third in the top 10.

Others in the top 10 according to rank are the attempt by the Amarillo School board to annex 11½ sections of land now in the Canyon school district; the plight of a long-beleaguered Buffalo Lake; fuel and food shortages; a conflict between the city and county over joint services; new construction projects undertaken by the governmental units in the county; the refusal by Texas A&M to locate a large animal diagnostic laboratory on the WTSU campus; the circulation of local option petitions in Canyon and Umbarger.

The year 1973 began with the breaking by The News of an exclusive on the selection of the new WTSU president. The News reported in early January that a source had said the new president was to be hired and on campus by Sept. 1, 1973.

Within two weeks, the News was embroiled with various university regents to learn the story of the selection of the president and one News reporter clashed with Regents Chairman Cloyce Box on the existence of a screening committee for applicants for the job. Box denied a committee had been formed, but three other regents confirmed that a committee was to be named.

Later, through a press release from the university public information office, Box admitted the existence of the committee.

During the spring, the regents worked in Austin and Dallas during closed door sessions to narrow the long list of applicants for the job.

Box released the names of the applicants following one Dallas meeting and the News learned that at least two university officials had applied for the presidency — Dr. Kenneth Laycock and Dr. T. Paige Carruth.

Five state representatives, Ben Bynum, Dean Cobb, Bill Clayton, Bill Heatly and Phil Cates wrote letters to the regents and the screening committee calling for the naming of Carruth as the president.

Following a Dallas meeting, board members announced the various parts of the campus community would have a chance to meet the main applicants for the job and in late May four aspirants came to Canyon to be interviewed by administrators, faculty members and students.

A meeting in Canyon in June resulted in no decision as the News learned that the board members were split between choosing Dr. Bill Miller of North Texas State University and Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins of Iowa.

However, in another meeting later that month, the regents selected Watkins as the successor to Dr. James P. Cornette, who was named chancellor.

Dr. Watkins, when contacted by The News, said his top priority as president would be the recruitment of students to the college.

Arriving in Canyon on Aug. 1 to assume his duties, the new president set out to abide by his word and immediately hired Keith Winter to head development activities at the university.

Since that time, Watkins has also instituted an Amarillo continuing education center and has formed several committees to examine each aspect of the university's operation.

Record amounts of moisture fell in the county throughout the winter of 1972-73 and set the stage for a massive harvest of wheat in June.

The federal government's easing of restrictions on crop acreages also added acreage to Randall County farmers crops and this coupled with the moisture worked to provide the best wheat crop in two decades. County Agent John Brazzil estimated that the crop is worth $12 million.

High wheat prices on the national and international scene also worked to the advantage of local farmers.

In early December, the News learned that a $10 million lawsuit had been filed in federal district court in Amarillo against several members of the Amarillo Whittenburg family and the owners of the Amarillo Globe-News, publisher of the only newspaper in that city.

The News story told readers of the allegations in the suit, allegations concerning the dealings of two Whittenburg-related trusts — the Fagg Trusts and Spool Trusts.

Early in the year, a News reporter learned there was a movement to have 11½ sections of land now in the Canyon school district annexed into the Amarillo school district.

An initial story quoted Amarillo developers and school board members as disavowing any specific knowledge of the petitioning effort, but it noted that school board members were busy contacting members of the board of school trustees of Randall County.

Later, the full story broke and it appeared that the Amarillo board desired the land without having the petition necessary circulated.

Canyon board members travelled to Amarillo for a meeting with the Amarillo board and despite pressure to begin discussions on the annexation, the Canyon board said it wanted more time to study the issue.

Then, this fall, representatives of the Amarillo board and the Amarillo chamber of commerce met with other Amarillo city officials and determined to appoint a citizens committee made up of citizens of both Amarillo and Canyon to study the issue and make a recommendation.

A luncheon meeting of the two cities' mayors, chamber presidents and county judges ended with the decision that the Canyon school board would be asked if they'd be interested in the results of such a citizens' committee report.

When approached by the two chamber of commerce presidents later in the fall, school board members asked for a legal opinion on the annexation issue.

During December, that legal decision was rendered by an Amarillo attorney and board members sought another legal opinion from local attorney Elton Cox.

Glenn O'Dell, Amarillo developer, presented a petition during December to board members to have 50 acres of land south of Amarillo in the Canyon district annexed into the Amarillo district. Local board members asked O'Dell to meet with Supt. Jerry Jacobs along with the landowners who signed the petition to discuss the move.

A city-county conflict reared its head early in the year when county commissioners tabled a city request to purchase a $33,000 fire truck to be used primarily for rural fires. City officials said the truck was a necessity due to its responsibility to rural residents through an existing contract with the county to share such services as fire, jail facilities, communication facilities and the dump ground.

During the summer, City Manager George Loudder issued a secret report which indicated that in the joint-service arrangement the city was losing money consistently. The report called for an adjustment based on use.

After months of haggling and several negotiation sessions, the county agreed to pay the city $18,000 per year for the services the city provides. The agreement was completed in mid-fall.

With the advent of federal revenue sharing money in 1972, city, county and school district boards decided to build new buildings.

The city was already discussing construction of a new city offices complex when the new year began and contracted early in the year with a Dallas architectural firm for the feasibility study and architectural and engineering work.

As the year ended, the city commissioners had viewed initial plans for the construction and architects were proceeding on more detailed architectural renderings.

Early in the year, the Canyon school board decided to build an area vocational school on the Canyon High campus. The board agreed to pay 47 per cent of the cost of the $500,000 structure and contracted almost immediately with an Amarillo architect.

Contracts for construction were let in August and construction on the building continued as the year ended.

Board members of the South Randall County Hospital District were also midway through the throes of reviewing architects plans for a new Canyon hospital as the new year began.

During the late summer, contracts for the $1.5 million structure were let and construction began with the project financed by revenue bonds, and tax bonds.

During late summer and fall, county commissioners also decided to build a new courthouse annex in South Amarillo. An Amarillo architect was hired to design the structure and had not presented plans as the year ended.

Commissioners purchased a 7 acre tract of land in South Amarillo for the construction.

Funding for both the new city hall complex and the courthouse annex is to come through the federal revenue sharing money received by the two local governments.

State Rep. Bryan Poff introduced legislation in the Texas House during the spring for Texas A&M to build a large animal diagnostic laboratory on the West Texas State University campus.

But, before the bill passed both houses of the legislature, the bill had been changed so that the lab could be built in either Potter or Randall counties.

A team from A&M visited several sites in the two counties, including a site on the WTSU campus and finally made a decision in late summer to place the lab on a site in the Amarillo Medical Center complex.

The move disappointed WTSU officials, and Poff later told a class at WTSU that he was used during the legislative session to move a bill for ulterior motives by A&M officials.

During the spring, Umbarger residents took out petitions to have their precinct voted wet. The issue later passed voter approval and Umbarger became the second Randall County precinct to allow sale of all alcoholic beverages including mixed drinks.

During the fall, a group of students at WTSU circulated petitions to call a local option election in Canyon to allow the sale of alcoholic beverages.

A total of 1500 signatures were needed to call the election and after 30 days of work, the students were unable to turn in the petitions to call the election.

Another student group organized to fight the local option issue.

Time Change Ires Mothers, Times Altered

Mothers muttered and city and county officials changed some crew work hours as daylight savings time went into effect in Canyon for the first work day Monday.

"Daddy, are you going to work in the middle of the night," was the query of one city youngster as her father prepared to leave home Monday morning.

The reaction was virtually unanimous. With sunup coming an hour after regular work hours begin, many residents complained that the switch to the standard time will save no energy for locals.

Canyon school children were apparently exercising care as they walked to school in darkness this week.

City Manager George Loudder, said, though, that many parents have been driving their children to elementary school. He said the woman who aids children's crossing at 23rd Street and 10th Avenue says she is helping about half the children who usually walk to school.

Loudder said the sanitation and water and sewer departments have switched to a 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. work day schedule until spring.

He said the switch was made for safety and because the men working in those departments require daylight to see. The rest of the city remains on an 8 to 5 schedule.

Bid. . .

Choice of the track will be optional and Watkins said the course work will be flexible enough that students who, for example, decide to enter the hospital pharmacy program for their fifth year but change their minds during the year will be able to alter their option without loss of credits.

Establishment of a new school of pharmacy has been a coordinating board concern since the early 1960s, but no action has ever been taken. Three universities now offer pharmacy degrees in the state.

Watkins said if the school is located at WTSU, portions of the old science building will be renovated to meet the needs of the school.

Hunter, vice president, and Bob Gruner, secretary-treasurer.

Superintendent of the horse department will be Earl Reynolds. Each exhibitor in the horse show will be limited to two horses. Classes will be Quarter Horse breeding, and other horses and ponies.

Saturday will be the big day for the youngsters.

Swine judging begins at 9 a.m. Saturday. Neil James is superintendent of the swine department.

Dairy heifers will be judged beginning at 1 p.m. Mike Hinders is superintendent of that department.

Sheep judging begins at 1:30 p.m. with Ervin Davis superintendent of that department.

Steer judging begins at 3 p.m. and beef heifer judging begins at 4 p.m. Forrest Gruner is superintendent of the beef cattle department.

During the show a concession booth will be operated by members of Randall County 4-H Clubs and their leaders.

Various awards for the show will be presented by Randall County businesses and groups.

The Farm Bureau will sponsor the showmanship trophies for the beef, dairy, swine, sheep and horse departments.

Canyon Kiwanis Club will sponsor novice trophies for the Center.

To lessen somewhat the impact of the fuel shortage anticipated during the spring, the university will place a table in the registration procedure where commuting students can indicate their interests in pooling cars by filling out forms. The cards will be compiled by the university legal counsel and interested students will be able to check with that office to get names of other students who live in their vicinity with similar WTSU schedules.

Interest in an Amarillo-to-Canyon bus service will also be polled to aid in determining the advisability of establishing a commuter bus system.

Residence halls at the university opened Tuesday and college entrance exams were administered Wednesday.

Registration for freshmen and seniors is from 8 a.m. to 1:20 p.m. Friday and registration for sophomores, juniors and graduate students is from 1:20-4:20 p.m. Friday and from 8:20 to 10:40 a.m. Saturday.

The Pick Of The Kitchen Pots — Last Year's Recipes In Review

By CAROL YOUNG

The new turn to the New Year provokes the reviewing of the past year, namely 1973. However, it was this reporter's task to review and choose the best and most representative recipes contributed by outstanding Canyon cooks and homemakers.

For those who didn't clip them out on the first publication, here's a second chance.

In the March 22 issue of The Canyon News, Mrs. Lanette Whitley, Canyon Junior High School homemaker teacher, was featured. Not only did the article explain the trials, tribulations and rewards of being such a teacher, it included several of Mrs. Whitley's favorite recipes.

Two of these, Bacon Big Boys and Chocolate Muffins, have been selected for re-publication.

Bacon Big Boys
2 large French rolls (bakery)
Mustard
4 slices natural Cheddar Cheese
4 frankfurters
6-8 slices of bacon
Split rolls, if tops are rounded, trim slightly. Spread inside of tops with mustard. Arrange 2 cheese slices and 2 frankfurters on bottom half of each. Replace tops. Wrap 3 or 4 bacon slices, spiral fashion around each; secure with toothpicks. Place top down on rack in shallow pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 5-8 min. Turn, bake 5-8 min. more.
Chocolate Fudge Muffins
2 sticks butter
4 squares semi-sweet chocolate
1 1/2 cups sugar
Pinch salt

4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup pecans
Melt butter and chocolate. Sift dry ingredients. Add chocolate and butter mixture. Stir with spoon. Add eggs one at a time. Do not beat, just stir. Add vanilla and pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 min.
Mrs. Linda Shelly, wife of WTSU professor Walter Shelly, was featured in concern with her preparations for Easter in the April 19 issue of the News. She revealed her menu plans for Easter dinner and two of the selections, Dilly Casserole Bread and Cherry-Cheese Tarts, were chosen for a repeat.
Dilly Casserole Bread
Softened 1 pkg. dry yeast in 1/4 cup warm water
Combine:

1 cup creamed cottage cheese (heated until luke warm)
2 tbs. sugar
1 tbs. instant onion flakes
1 tbs. butter
2 tsp. dill seed
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. soda
1 egg unbeaten
softened yeast
Add:
2 to 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, beating well after each addition. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Stir down and turn into well-greased round casserole. Let rise until light, about 30-40 min., bake 40-50 min. (until golden brown) at 350 degrees. Brush with butter sprinkled with salt.
Cherry-Cheese Tarts
3 sticks pastry mix or 1 pastry recipe calling for 3 cups flour

2 cups milk
1 2/4 oz. pkg. custard flavored dessert mix
18 oz. pkg. cream cheese, cubed
1/2 tsp. vanilla
#2 can cherry pie filling
Roll pastry mix to 1/4 inch. Cut 12 1/2 inch circles; fit over inverted muffins; pinch corners together, prick. Bake at 450 degrees for 10-12 min. Cool.
Gradually add milk to dessert mix. Cook and stir over medium heat; add cream cheese and vanilla; beat smooth with rotary beaters. Cool 10 min., stirring occasionally. Spoon into tart shells. Carefully spoon chilled cherry pie filling atop. Chill firm.
Mrs. Edgar Robinson, farmer's wife and homemaker, was a featured homemaker in the July 26 issue of the News. In addition to her hobbies that include china painting, oil painting, ceramics, paper flowers, crocheting, and cast mold grapes, Mrs. Robinson feels that one of the first steps to being a successful homemaker is good cooking and this is a specialty of hers. Her dessert specialty, Pineapple Cake, has been chosen for the recipe review and her recipe for Cabbage Slaw.

Pineapple Cake
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
2 eggs
#2 can pineapple
1/2 cup oil
2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
Add all at once and heat about 3 min. with electric beater and pour in loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees. While hot, pour on cooked icing consisting of:

1 stick oleo
3/4 cups sugar - white
1 1/3 cups brown sugar
1 small can evaporated milk
2 tsp. flour
Cabbage Slaw
(Serves 15)
1 med. cabbage, chopped
1 med. onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 carrots, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
1 can pimentos, chopped
1 cup sugar
Layer vegetables in casserole. Alternately sprinkle with sugar.
Dressing
1 cup salad oil
3/4 cups vinegar
1 1/2 tbs. salt
1 tsp. celery seed
Bring oil, vinegar, salt and celery seed to boil. Pour over vegetables and cover tightly. Refrigerate at least four hours. Keeps indefinitely.

Mrs. Maggie Voelm, another featured homemaker in the August 16 issue, has sidelines involving silver smithing, china painting, organic gardening and leading and organizing a Pre-4-H group of girls. She works with her husband, Whitey Voelm in his retirement business, a rock shop, and has come to earn his title for her, "My First Lady." Maggie feels that the formula for a happy home starts with a happy husband and child. In August, she was right in the middle of her pickle canning and gave her recipe for Curry Pickles, a family favorite. A beverage she is well known for is Mint Tea, and she also revealed her process for preparing the drink.

Curry Pickles
8 cups, or 2 1/2 lbs. thinly sliced cucumbers
1 med. onion
2 cups vinegar
1 1/3 cups sugar
2 tsp. mixed pickling spices
1 tsp. celery seed
1 tsp. mustard seed
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 tbs. curry powder
Place sliced cucumbers and onion in large bowl. Sprinkle with salt and cover with ice water and let stand for about three hours. Drain well. Combine vinegar, sugar, curry powder, pickling spice, celery seed, pepper and mustard seed in large kettle; add drained cucumber and onion. Heat to just boiling. Seal in hot sterilized jars. Makes 3 pints.

Mint Tea
Boil pot of water
Fill metal "tea bag" with good grade tea leaves
Place bag in pitcher
Add branch of mint, pour water over both
Let sit for a few minutes, serve hot over ice.
In the September 16 issue of the paper, Mrs. Cristler Crain, farmer's wife and homemaker, labeled herself an adventurous cook. Also to her credit with her home demonstration club work, Mrs. Crain is an avid genealogist. She and her husband helped compile a book titled "Ten Sons of Oliver" a genealogical study of her husband's family. At the time of publication in September, Mrs. Crain was well into her schedule of canning and preparing Chili Sauce and Pear Honey for keeping for the winter months.

Chili Sauce
1 gallon ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped
2 cups chopped onion
2 cups sweet red peppers
3 tbs. salt
1 cup brown sugar
3 cups vinegar
1 hot red pepper (optional)
1 clove of garlic
Tie in bag:
1 tsp. whole cloves
1 tsp. mixed pickling spices
1 stick cinnamon
Combine chopped vegetables. Add bag of spices to vegetables. Cook rapidly, stirring often to keep from sticking. When the vegetables have cooked to about half the original amount, add vinegar and salt. Boil rapidly for 5 min. stirring constantly. Pour into hot sterilized jars, seal and store.

Pear Honey
4 cups chopped pears
2 cups crushed pineapple with juice
6 cups of sugar
Cook down until the desired thickness. Fresh or canned pears may be used.
One of Mrs. Crain's ideas for use of the Pear Honey was with rolled out biscuits brushed with butter. A spoonful of the Pear Honey in the center, fold and press like a fried pie, bake until brown, and there she has it, a quick breakfast or party food of her own invention.

Canyon Jr. High Girls Basketball Teams Met Friona

The Canyon Jr. High School girls' basketball teams met Friona in Canyon this week resulting in the 9th grade team defeating Friona 40-28, the 8th grade team losing 38-30, and the 7th grade team losing 38-14 to the Friona seventh grade team.

High scorers for the games were Lisa Cathey with 18 points, Becky Williams with 15 and Vicki Miller with 7 in the 9th grade game.

In the 8th grade game, Mary Joy Johnson, with 17, Susie Wright with 5 and Glenda Williams with 4 were high scorers for the action.

On the 7th grade team, high scorers were Cindy Craig with 8 points, and Detra Carroll, Anita Busby, and Linda Plain each scoring 2 points.

Before the Christmas holidays, the three teams played Dumas girls' teams in Dumas with three wins, 9th grade 56-34, 8th grade, 32-19 and 7th grade, 30-22.

High scorers for the games were 9th grade, Becky Williams, 23, Lisa Cathey, 15 and Vicki Miller, 15.

For 8th grade, Belinda Williams scored 12, and Mary Joy Johnson scored 8 in the game.

On the 7th grade team, Dee-Dee Carroll scored 14 and Cindy Craig scored 12 points.

The next games will be against Dumas in Canyon Jan. 14.

Rhonda Roberts, Canyon Junior High School Band member, took a moment from her practice to show off the 1974 Canyon Band Calendar. The calendars have arrived and have been given for delivery to the various students who sold them. Those who ordered a calendar and fail to get one, should call J. W. King, Band Director, at 655-9287.

HAPPY NEWS

Days Filled With Convention Plans

By MARY NEAL HENRY
THE DAYS ARE filled with enjoying the family home and plans to attend the conventions of the American National Cattlemen's Association and the American National CowBelles. As Texas' president, I will be a voting delegate. I have also been asked to serve on the National Resolutions Committee. Let's all resolve to eat more beef — pure American beef — this year.

THE CONVENTION IS in San Diego this year. We'll be attending work shops and taking tours. On Thursday, we'll take a tour of feedlots in the Imperial Valley. Then we'll return on Friday.

Many are going from this area. Mary Jane Miller will be traveling with us. We plan to share our fun with you in the last January issue.

ON TUESDAY, JAN. 15, I was invited to Laredo to a meeting of South Texas CowBelles. But six hundred miles is just too much traveling to try to "sandwich in" on the Tuesday before leaving on Saturday for San Diego. Those South Texas CowBelles, under the leadership of Mrs. Chester M. Bell, are doing a fine job in South Texas and they have a big area to cover.

THE TERRA COTTA CowBelles have invited me to install their 1974 slate of officers on Tuesday, Jan. 15, in the home of Mrs. Robert Bliss, 311 Comanche Trail in Tulsa. Since that is only twenty miles, I plan to make that meeting.

THE HAPPY COWBELLES met on Wednesday (after this deadline) with Mrs. Lonnie Todd in Happy. I'll tell you about that next week.

NOW, IF I haven't "beefed" too much ... read on!

JOHNNY PAYNE WAS voted campus favorite by his Happy High School classmates. There is frequently a short circuit between my fingertips and my brain? Sorry about that! And Congratulations, Johnny!

BETTY MILLER HAS been hospitalized this week in Canyon with kidney stones.

THE JUNIOR HIGH played Lazbuddie basketball teams. Girls lost but the boys won. Then the Jr. Varsity boys won over their Lazbuddie opponents.

WILLIE BUTLER MAY be home by the time you read this. That many pretty flowers would inspire anyone to keep improving.

JOHN BUTLER SPENT one night in High Plains as a patient for tests.

GEORGE EDMONDS IS in intensive care in St. Anthony's Hospital after surgery during the first few days of January. He is steadily improving.

N. F. (SHORTY) JOHNSON has improved enough since his heart attack that he has been moved to room 10 in Swisher County Hospital.

Had a party? Or giving one? Tell The Canyon News about it. Telephone 655-7121, or stop by the News office on the south side of the square.

HAROLD EAKES WAS in Oklahoma over the weekend because his mother isn't well.

MARY MILLER PHIFER was forty years old last Friday. Her husband, Lavelle, had planned a birthday party for her for a whole year. Mary's birthday was Friday, but the party had to be given on Saturday evening. The children, Greg, David and Doris and Lavelle were going to take Mary out to eat at Sutphen's, but when they got there ... the head table was centered with a big bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums with a big '40' on each side. There were yellow tapers up and down the tables set in candle rings of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Betty Miller had made a horse shoe cake and decorated it in yellow roses. And as many of the family and relatives as could make it were there. These helped Mary celebrate: Mrs. J. E. Gurley, Ora Mary Sims and Mary Ann Sims, George and Sara Tirey and their Jim and Laura, Odie and Helen Harman and their granddaughter, Cynthia Womack of Tulsa, O. H. and Betty Rahlfs and their Andy, Dan and Penny Rahlfs and their Dana and Amarillo, Johnny and Betty Miller and their Sharla and John, Odie and Frances Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller and the Phifers. Mary said that she had done so many "mean things" to people in Lubbock when they reached forty, that she was glad that she didn't still live there. Happy Birthday, Mary! It couldn't have happened to a nicer person.

JIM AND RINDA Allison and their Wes of Stratford spent the weekend with D.L. and Maurine Allison. The group all traveled to Stamford to the Allison reunion, their first opportunity to show off the grandchild. Wes stayed over ten days with his grandparents in Happy.

DICK FOSTER IS quite an artist with wood or with metal. If you haven't been far enough out on the county line road (east of Happy, that is) to see his mail box, you've missed something. The Dick Foster's mail box is held up by a bareback rider and that horse is really bucking. The art work is really good. Dick has done several works of art for the Happy Jaycee-Ettes parade floats. The mail box is made of metal and is a fine piece of art.

JANIE JOHNSON WAS in Happy recently. And she just happened to have a picture of her two grandchildren. Janie and Jim are living in Spearman now. Jim is working for the International Harvester dealer there.

BILLY ED AND Marcus Conway and Laura and Will Mack arrived home from England on Sunday evening, Dec. 30. They had missed their plane in New York and were much later getting home than they had anticipated. They will be returning to Tuscon, Ariz., to the University there, where Dr. Bill Conway will resume teaching.

MERLE AND LEONA McFarland entertained the Bill Conways, Mary Ann, Don and Debra Magness, Willa Jane and Jim McManigal and their Christi; Joyce Wheat; and Jack and Susan Bullock of Canyon, with hamburgers and all the trimmings on Sunday afternoon. The Conways shared their experiences in England where Bill did research. They also visited France and Germany.

JOY AND BOB Stephenson spent part of the holidays with J. J. Lane and helped him inventory.

JIM MCMANIGAL IS going to judge the barrow show at the Amarillo Stock Show this year. Jim was all set to do this last year when he had to travel with the WTSU judging team. Jim is a native of Happy and holds degrees from Tech and A&M. I've seen Jim show many barrows, hardly a dry thread on him by the time they awarded him the blue ribbon.

BOB ROBINSON, ASSISTANT Potter County Agent, has been particularly busy this week. On a news cast on Monday, Gaines Franks, the Potter County Agent, had nothing but high praise for Bob and for the hard work and fine job that he had done with those kids. If any of you out there don't know Bob, he is another of Happy's native boys.

GREG LOONEY MADE the Class B All State Offensive Football Team and the Texas Sports Writers Football Team. Congratulations, Greg!

THE ANGUS SHOW of the Amarillo Fat Stock Show has been named this year for Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bradford who have done so much for the Angus breed of cattle in this industry. The Stock Show and Angus exhibition will be named the Bradford Centennial Angus Show, honoring Merrill and Clyde Bradford. They have had many honors and done many services including the Tri-State Fair's first superintendent in 1950 and served until 1958; and superintendent of the Angus breeding division from 1956 to 1964; member of the board of directors of that fair since 1951; one of the original organizers of the Performance Registry International in Amarillo; and owners of the top rated bull of 1961. The Bradfords have served on Angus Boards in both Texas and New Mexico and one is a Past President of the West Texas Angus Association and the O & K Angus Association. They have won championships at such major Fat Stock Shows as Fort Worth Exposition, State Fair, San Antonio, Houston and Oklahoma City. The Bradfords have lived at Route 2, (South and barely west) Happy for many years, and are very nice people to know.

TRAVERNE VERMEIRE WAS the hostess for the Sunnyside Home Demonstration Club last Thursday. Rhonda Fellers and Mary Ann Sims presented the program on their experiences at Girls' State last year. Leona Henry resigned as Council Delegate. Those enjoying refreshments and the white elephant sale which added $7.55 to the club's treasury were Traverne Vermeire, Lou Dougherty, Jorja Smith, Joy Bryan, Mary Wilhelm, Jo Hand, Barbara Danner and Helen Bryan.

HERMION MCNEILL HAS been substitute teaching in Happy Junior High. Hermion is Mrs. Dudley McNeill. They have been living in the older G. L. Miller home, but will be moving into Mrs. Mc's home soon.

EVELYN AND RAYFORD Shipman have moved into Happy into the L. V. Coile home.

LLOYD AND SUSAN Rahlfs were pleasantly surprised with a noisy group of housewarmers last Saturday evening. Dottie and Dick Foster and their Kelly, Lila and James Vick, Judy and Gene Shipman, Mary Ann and Don Magness, Mary Neal and Tom Henry, LaVenna and Eugene Jackson and Genora, Joy and Norman Freeman, Kaye and Vincent Venhaus, Donna and Dean Bryan, Jeannie and Richard Todd and their son, (of Tulsa) Jeanne and Ronnie Johnson, Mary and Duane Stubblefield met at the Jaycee Hall and traveled to the Rahlfs new country home. The group played cards and dominoes and enjoyed chips and dips. Dottie Foster had fixed a lovely arrangement of small artificial flowers, greenery and five and ten dollar bills in a milk glass vase. This was presented to Lloyd and Susan and Little Lloyd to add something to their new home. Gay and Jim Fellers, Skip and Larry Simons, Randy Johnson and Suzette and C. R. Wesley also added money to the housewarming but were unable to attend.

GLADYS AND HOYLE Haley enjoyed their whole family over the last weekend. Because James is a highway patrolman, he had to work through the holidays. It was his first chance to be off to spend time with the family. James and Linda Haley and their Richard and Renee of Canyon and Glenn and Ellen and their JoAnn, Cindy, and Margie of Amarillo, ALL spent the weekend with Gladys and Hoyle. Because the two older grandchildren were fighting over the tricycle, Cindy said she'd just have to go to bed ... and she could take her own shoes off by herself. (Cindy is about four). And she did! Wonders never cease.

THAT REMINDS ME of C. E. telling us a humorous incident about little Scott Sims. He came into the cafe in Happy with his boots on the wrong feet and C. E. mentioned it to him. Little Scott looked up and told him, "No, my feets on the wrong legs."

THE EASTERN STAR School of Instruction for District Two, Section three is in Canyon today. I hope to see all my friends there. Allene Leake of Canyon is the Co-Chairman of the school. It will be a good one in Canyon's beautiful hall.

HAPPY OES WILL have initiation next week, Tuesday, Jan. 15, and we begin at 7:30 p.m.

THE HAPPY FAT Stock Show is Friday, Jan. 11. Everyone is busy with show animals. Some of these animals will go to Canyon after Happy's show is over for the Stock Show there on Saturday. Others will go to the Swisher County Show.

I HOPE THAT your New Year has begun well and prosperous, that you have taken advantage of your opportunities and gained experience from your failures. And I hope that you have made each day count for progress.

THANK EACH OF you who called to see if I had read "Trailing Family Trees" last Sunday. I surely wouldn't want to have missed it. Yes, that was my Mom and my uncle. And to Dorothy Nordyke, "Yes! Happy STILL has its own POSTMARK."

MY HAT IS off to Ann Brown for her Sunday article, "Man's World, Woman's Place." That is truly "telling it like it is."

See ya!
Mary Neal

Bank Deposits Up

Deposits in Canyon banks rose by about $5 million during 1973 pointing the way for rapidly expanding business activity in the community.

First National Bank of Canyon had deposits increase during the year by nearly $4 million and West Texas State Bank deposits increased by more than $1 million.

Don Max Vars, president of First National, termed the year "a real good year", although he said the percentage of increase for his bank was less than the percentage of increase during 1972.

Deposits and loans for the two local banks were:

Europe, Anyone?

Retired Canyon school teacher Martha Goodman is planning a European trip this summer and she's looking for other city residents to accompany her on a three-week tour of seven countries.

Mrs. Goodman says she's been researching the various tour programs available and that the agency she's selected seems to offer an exciting itinerary at a fair price.

Handling arrangements for the tour will be Bynum Travel Abroad, an agency operating out of Dallas. The group is scheduled to leave Dallas on June 3 and return June 24, she said.

Countries to be visited include Holland, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Italy and England.

Highlights of the trip include a boat ride up the Rhine River, a trip to the island of Capri and a visit to "practically every European historical site you've ever read about," Mrs. Goodman said.

Persons interested in more details about the trip are asked to contact Mrs. Goodman at 655-3412.

Oldest Umbarger Resident Has 90th Birthday; Tells Secret Of Longevity

By ANN MELIN

Hard work, honest dealing and an early to bed - early to rise existence are the keys to longevity, according to a man who's sired 10 children, lived through 16 of 37 presidential administrations and is currently the patriarch of five generations of Umbarger folk.

Ernest Joe Friemel, the eldest member of the Umbarger community, was honored by his children last Sunday in celebration of his 90th birthday, which was Tuesday.

Born in Fayette County in 1884, Friemel is the son of Pius Friemel, one of Umbarger's earliest settlers. The family moved to the Panhandle in 1902, Friemel says, "to get away from the boll weevil." According to the nonagenarian, he came to the region in the caboose of a train which carried the family's poultry and livestock in one of its stockcars.

He was 18 when he first set foot in the Panhandle, and Friemel recalls that Canyon at the turn-of-the-century was more lively and bustling than it is today.

"Folks didn't have no automobiles back then, and freight had to be hauled by wagon. Canyon was the stopping-off place."

Friemel says he didn't get much schooling and that his father put him to work full-time on the farm at the age of 13.

At 14, Friemel says he sprouted the mustache he sports to this day. Although he doesn't take much stock in the long-haired, bearded look of today's youth, he keeps his handlebar, he says, in memory of a popular notion that held sway in the 1890's.

"The saying went that if a man couldn't grow a mustache, the girls didn't want him. . . and that's the God's honest truth," Friemel says.

The greatest thing that ever happened to Friemel was his marriage to Emilie Kirschke in 1907. The couple had 10 children, seven of which are alive today.

The Friemels started out with a piece of land and about $100 apiece. As testimony that the cost of living has skyrocketed since those early days, Friemel says he and his wife made their $200 last for the entire first year of their marriage.

"And how far do you figure $200 would get you today?" Friemel chuckled.

"Folks today spend more on one or two luxuries than we used to spend on living for a whole year," he adds.

Emilie Friemel died in 1961. Later, Friemel married his present wife, Hazel.

Asked which president he cast his first vote for, Friemel sharply replied that he reckoned "that bit of knowledge just isn't in my head anymore, and if it were, I wouldn't even know where to look for it."

Which president did he like the best?

"Well, I guess that fella that got killed in Dallas might have been a good one — his brother might have been, too, if they hadn't killed him in California."

He describes the Watergate Scandal as "a lot of crooked business, that's all. Causing a lot of expense on taxpayers — and Nixon himself isn't paying his part of it."

But Friemel says he's not a bit surprised about the revelations of Watergate. "We can't get an honest man in office. An honest man would never run," he says emphatically.

After living almost a century, Friemel says he's come to the conclusion that dishonesty in public and private life is the bane of the nation.

He remembers a boy in his early Fayette County birthplace being killed in the Spanish-American War. He says he's got no good reason to have fond memories of World War I with its accompanying anti-German feeling which made itself felt throughout the country.

"All wars are alike — all corrupt," he says.

Friemel says he doesn't go in for television because it's too "full of imitation and artificial stuff." He says he's of a mind that TV has ill effects on youngsters "who see all that violence and killing and get to thinking it's smart."

Nor does Friemel think too much of booklearning. "Oh, you gotta know how to read and write and figure, but plain common sense can do the rest," he insists.

"And people stay more honest when they ain't got much education. Get educated and you learn all the loopholes to cheat. Stay uneducated and you just know the only way to make a living is by hard work," he says.

Although he doesn't take to reading books, Friemel says he reads a newspaper daily. "If you read it right, a good newspaper has got more instruction in it than all of the books put together," he says.

Friemel says he's distressed by what he thinks is an increase in "dishonesty and cheating" nowadays.

"I can remember the days

E. J. Friemel

when a man shot a fella who stole his horse and didn't have to go to the law about it. Now, if a fella get's caught stealing, he gets set free."

In many ways, he says, folks of yesterday seem to have had more fun than people today.

He remembers the big dances that didn't cost a cent that drew folks from as far away as Clovis and Lubbock to the Umbarger community. He was a good dancer, back then, he says, adept at executing a waltz, a polka or a Schautische. Played the mouth harp pretty good, too, he says.

His favorite pastimes now he says are yard work and gardening. Seventy years plus of farming in the region, he says, has taught him more about how to make things grow than any schooling could have done.

Being alive for almost half of the nation's history has taught Mr. Friemel a thing or two about life, he says.

Assessing the state of the country, he figures there's "lots of things right, lots of things wrong about America."

"And what's wrong is that there's not enough honesty — if folks were honest we'd have better government, better living and no wars."

"The downfall of this nation is crooked people and school teachers (they're the ones who educate a boy to be crooked)."

But all told, Friemel says he's lived a good life that he wouldn't have chosen to spend anywhere else but in the Texas Panhandle.

"Yea, I've been well-hooked up here these past 72 years," he concludes.

Mrs. Richard Jackson, hostess, left, looks on as Dr. Ruth Lowes, center, Superintendent of Study for the First United Methodist Church of Canyon, serves Miss Mattie Sue Howell, retiring Director of Christian Education for the church, at a reception held Sunday in the Jackson home, honoring Miss Howell's retirement. The Pastor Parish Relations Committee hosted the reception.

Quarter Horses In Local Girl's Future

Martha Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Johnson, north east of Canyon, has been seriously involved in the showing of registered quarter horses for the past five years. She has been a member of and president for the past three years of the Panhandle Quarter Horse Youth Exhibitors Association. This year will be her last to participate with the group due to the age limit. However, Martha plans to continue her showing and will affiliate with the adult division of the association.

At present, Martha lacks five halter points having an AQHA Youth Championship with her new gelding, Bee Chock Step. The total required for the championship is 35 points and these points are obtained through showing the horse and meeting the requirements of an AQHA point system. Chock, as Martha calls him, is a six-year-old chestnut gelding that was ridden only occasionally before Martha started working with him. She has owned Chock since mid-July of 1973 and has already earned her Register of Merit in Showmanship and Western Pleasure. The Register of Merit is also based on showing the horse and obtaining points through an AQHA point system.

With her last horse, Flying Pattie, Martha won four trophy saddles, one for All-Around at the Perryton Youth Quarter Horse Show, one for Golden Spread Youth Senior All-Around, one for Golden Spread Adult All-Around and one for being the high point youth of the three Amarillo Golden Spread Quarter Horse Shows, donated by Bill Davis of the Teepee Western Store, Amarillo.

Martha was also voted to receive the Golden Spread Sportsmanship Award. For the award, the other youth exhibitors cast a vote as to who they felt had displayed the most sportsmanlike attitude at the shows. Buddy Murrell of Gruver donated a 2-year-old colt as the award for the Sportsmanship designation.

Another championship that must be earned according to an AQHA point system is the Superior Youth Championship. This one requires at least 60 points in each category and Martha has hers in Western Pleasure and Showmanship, with Flying Pattie.

Other awards Martha has earned or won are the Supreme Halter, the award for the Panhandle Youth Senior All-Around. It is called a Supreme Halter because the halter is trimmed with silver. For the Panhandle Adult All-Around, Martha was given a tooled leather notebook inscribed with the horse's name and a special pocket for keeping registration papers and important documents pertaining to the horse.

Also to her credit, Martha went to Nationals in Trail Class and English Pleasure in 1971 and placed seventh in English Pleasure.

Right now, though showing quarter horses is one of her chief interests, Martha has completed her first semester as a freshman student at West Texas State University. At WTSU, she is a member of Block and Bridle and her major is Animal Science. Martha is not sure what her plans for the future are, but she does know that they will definitely include horses.

WT Juniors Will Host Foran In Amarillo Game

West Texas State University's Junior Varsity basketball team will host Foran Construction Company of the Amarillo Industrial League at 5:15 p.m. today in the Amarillo Civic Center.

The Junior Varsity was scheduled earlier to face Altus Air Force Base Thursday, but that team has called off all of its games for the remainder of the season because of the gas shortage.

Coach Rick Starzecki's JV team will play Vaughn Real Estate in a 5:15 p.m. contest Saturday night.

The game with Foran Construction will be prior to the Buffalo varsity contest with the University of Texas at Arlington. Saturday's JV contest is before the North Texas State clash.

Starzecki has rescheduled Amarillo College for March 2 in an early game before the Tulsa

West Texas State game. The JV team had Amarillo College scheduled last week, but several of the AC players were unable to get back to Amarillo from the Christmas break because of bad weather.

The JV team will take a 7-2 record into Thursday's clash.

Miss Howell Retires As Educational Director For Local Church

"I just want to relax, do some reading and visit with friends." These are the things that Miss Mattie Sue Howell, recently retired Director of Christian Education for the First United Methodist Church of Canyon, has planned for the immediate future.

Later on, Miss Howell hopes to be able to take an extended trip that includes visiting relatives in San Diego, Calif. When asked how the energy crisis might affect her plans, she replied "I don't know. We'll just have to wait and see. We might end up taking a bus or plane."

A reception, hosted by the Pastor Parish Relations Committee of the Methodist Church, Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jackson, officially marked Miss Howell's retirement from her four years and eleven months of service to the church. Miss Howell was born in Tulsa and her father, a Methodist minister, was affiliated mostly with churches in the Panhandle area, so she considers this part of Texas to be her home.

A graduate of Texas Tech, she obtained her Masters degree in Christian Education from Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn. Scarritt College is a school that primarily trains laymen in the Methodist church.

After graduation, Miss Howell was Youth Director of the Northwest Conference in Texas and also taught Christian Education at Scarritt College for ten years.

Her twelve years of teaching in public schools began with two years in a rural school where she was in charge of the first four grades. "We have many good memories of those days," she commented. These years were followed by ten more with the Olton schools. Miss Howell taught second and third grade, on up to high school in her ten years there.

Then, she decided that she wanted to go back to the Christian Education aspect of her teaching career. "Education is education wherever it is," is her philosophy. "I was looking for a place in Christian Education and convinced the Methodist Church in Canyon that they needed a Director of Christian Education."

In her years with the Canyon church, Miss Howell was involved with all aspects of the educational program there. She particularly enjoyed working with the kindergarten teachers and students, the S.P.R.Y. Club (Sixty Plus Rewarding Years), Vacation Church school and her close contact with several young families. The Vacation Church School, with five denominations in attendance was in her words, "exciting and full of the spirit of fellowship."

As Director of Christian Education, it was Miss Howell's task to keep abreast of the new materials, teaching programs, references and books offered by the United Methodist Churches. These materials include the youth from kindergarten through high school, adult and even senior citizen levels of education in the church.

In her work with the S.P.R.Y. Club, a club for senior citizens of all faiths, she encountered one member of this group's dislike of the term "senior citizen." "When we first organized the group, we were going to call it the Sixty Plus Years Club. Then someone mentioned that the name would be shortened to the SPY Club. One lady said that she would rather be called a spy than a senior citizen," Miss Howell related.

Miss Howell has also spent some time traveling. In 1930, she went to Europe on a steamer, later spent a Christmas in Cuba, has been to Hawaii and Old Mexico and has seen much of the United States.

When asked how she felt about all the shortages cropping up lately, she replied, "I wonder about shortages, I feel like many others, that they would like to know the truth about them and how things managed to get the way they are."

When she was a child, Miss Howell and her family lived in Floydada for a while. There were no paved roads and no railroads then either. To get coal, someone had to haul it by wagon from Canyon. When the weather got bad and the roads were impassable, they had a sort of energy crisis then, too. No one could get to Canyon to bring a load of coal and everyone had to make do with what they had.

Miss Howell said, "I enjoyed my years of teaching in public schools and in Christian Education, but I am looking forward to doing what I want to and not having to face the pressures of a job everyday."

Mrs. Richard Jackson and several others at the reception Sunday conveyed the same message concerning Miss Howell's retirement. "We will miss her, but we are happy for her."

Dr. Duane Guy, Chairman of the Pastor Parish Relations Committee, presents Miss Mattie Sue Howell with a money tree at a reception held Sunday to honor her retirement as Director of Christian Education for the First United Methodist Church of Canyon.

Army Stage Band To Present Concert

The U.S. Army stage band, the Continentals, a rock style band on a nationwide tour, will be presenting a concert in Canyon at 7 p.m. next Friday in the Activities Center Ballroom on the West Texas State University campus. There will be no charge for admission, the public is invited, and seating will be on a first come first serve basis.

Auditioning young musicians, both male and female, for membership in a U.S. Army band is the most important reason for the tour.

The opportunities the Army offers to successful musicians who audition, include advanced starting pay and accelerated promotion according to levels of achievement.

What this means is that a musician who successfully auditions will be eligible for a starting pay rate comparable to that of a private first class. After 8 weeks of basic training and an additional 8 weeks of service, a bandsman would be eligible for a rate of pay on the sergeant level, according to the skill level he demonstrates.

Young men and women interested in auditioning may do so by contacting Owen Kirby, director of the Continentals, at the concert next Friday night, or next Saturday at the Travel Lodge West, I-40 and Paramount, Amarillo.

Those seeking further information may call Dick Aptekar or Ron Fellows at the Today's Army Good Guys office in Amarillo, 376-2162.

The Canyon News and the Today's Army Good Guys are co-sponsors of the concert.

The Continentals are stationed in Ft. Sill, Okla., and travel all over the country giving concerts and auditioning young musicians.

Brass, woodwind, key board, and guitar musicians are needed, and the Army is offering the opportunities.

Jordan Says He'll Quit

Judge E. E. "Gene" Jordan announced from the 47th district court bench Monday morning he will not seek re-election next November.

Jordan, district judge for 20 years, told about 25 attorneys, in the courtroom for docket call, he will step down.

Last week, an Amarillo attorney O. M. Calhoun, announced he will seek the bench.

"Twenty years ago, when I first became a candidate for the office I now hold, I made one promise other than to do my best to be a fair and honest judge—that I would retire when I reached retirement age," Jordan said. "As that time approached, I have found a reluctance to keep that promise."

"Many of you have urged me to run again. I am honored by your expression of confidence, and have been undecided about the whole matter until the last few days. I felt I owed the people of this district, and the bar especially, my loyal service. But, it now appears best that I keep the promise made so long ago."

"It has become increasingly difficult to maintain the standards of professionalism and dedication which I set for myself. This year will be my last as a full-time judge, but I intend to offer my services in accepting assignments as a retired judge."

A group of Amarillo and Canyon attorneys had last fall circulated a petition urging Jordan to shun retirement and seek another term.

PALISADES PALAVER

Losing Weight Popular Resolution

By MILDRED TURNER

A DOZEN PEOPLE called saying "My resolution is to lose weight, no names please." So this weight is really beginning to weigh us down, isn't it? I wondered why I got so little accomplished anymore! One person said "Let's join N.A.A.F.A. (National Associated Aid for Fat Americans) My neighbor suggested she and I get in a race to see who could lose weight. This could have been any one around here u know but someone not need to lose weight! I told Estelle if she lost any weight she'd be too thin to make a shadow or if she drank a red soda pop she'd look like a thermometer."

I WAS TALKING to Mrs. Seitz this week and she will have a surprise for us when she and her husband return from the West Indies. Their family went to Europe in September but the boys will be with the housekeeper this trip and the daughter is staying with the Flemings.

CAROLYN AND DAN Bailey's guests for a little New Year's Eve party were: John and Donna Hudspeth, Orville and Grace Ladahoff, Curtis and Betty King. Carolyn served fondue, chips and dips and banana bread. Carolyn tried a new recipe: Black Eyed Pea Dip. Monopoly, Pit and Bible Quiz games were played while they listened to records.

ON JANUARY 7TH Carolyn Bailey and Orville Ladahoff celebrated their birthdays. They ate at Furr's in Western Plaza and went shopping afterward. Dan and Grace went along to help them celebrate.

NEW OFFICERS TAKING office recently in the Palisades Club are president, Phil Boothe; vice president, Paul Fleming; secretary, Dora Waldrop; treasurer, Jack Inman; board members, Jerri Thompson, Scott, and O.O. Guess. I don't have the results of that installation and business meeting so keep me informed, please. Several have called to find out what's going on at the gate? Some suggested this material would be helpful to help cover up some of the unpleasant looking reinforcements down at the box car bridge. Please see authorities as this was merely suggested to me.

DORA'S PARTY HAS returned from their ski trip. There were eleven of them, age spread of fifty-seven years. Leaving the Palisades they visited in Denver before going to Winter Park, Colorado to learn to ski. They "stuck" the four-wheel drive and trailer the first thing up on arrival. Had to get chains to get parked. It snowed each day. The usual temperature during the day was 20° and nights 10°. The ski instructor pulled the old Texas brag, "This is unusual weather, we usually ski in sweaters!" To quote Dora: they were all dressed like Kona Bears, goggles, mittens, thermal undies, the snow freezing their water-proofed pant legs as they tried to ski. All eleven enrolled in "ski school." They all fell a dozen times each on that first day. Their doggerel for the day was: right ski turns left, left ski turns right! Cha Cha Ch ch ch! (Remember that?) The second day "48 hour virus" took two skiers out of school for two days; this happened until all had been bitten by the bug. This interrupted their ski plans each day. For the sick ones, there was a small satisfaction in sitting in the large glass house, with an "up-chuck-bucket" handy, watching the blue eyed husky dog play in the falling snow, and the tiny birds carry away bread crumbs while they were being fed hot tea, lemon and hot cereal.

THE LITTLE GIRLS aged five and eight and one mother dropped out of ski school but eight stuck it out and became AD-VANCED beginners in the ski world. To Dora this meant when you fell, you skidded further and faster! The speed of the skis on a down hill run could send you across the slope in a thrilling turn or just as easily in a sprawling fall.

ON SATURDAY MORNING it was a cold, wet, two hour task digging the rigs out of the snow, getting packed in the trailer and heading for the Palisades in a blowing snow storm, with chains clanking along at forty miles an hour. Two people still had the virus. Going over Bertha Pass, Dora said they met other "ski idiots" following the snow plow to Winter Park.

IN SPITE OF the illness of each one, everyone had a good time but Dora said, "The twinkle of the Palisades lights, at 1 a.m. Sunday morning, was a beautiful sight."

I HAD MY yearly check at the doctor's office this week, took some things of Garland's out to the hospital, but mostly I was in the little girl's room, if you happened to miss me! So call again as I'm fit as a fiddle this week — 622-0701.

CPS Review Course Continues

The West Texas State University Business Education and Office Administration Department will continue the Certified Professional Secretary review course during the spring semester.

The course was begun in the fall 1973 semester and reviewed Parts IV, V and VI of the CPS examination.

The spring semester course, BE 276-2, will be offered on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. Part I (Environmental Relationships in Business), Part II (Business and Public Policy) and Part III (Economics and Management) will be reviewed.

"The purpose of the CPS Review course is to provide professional development opportunities for secretaries and office workers in the Panhandle region," said Dr. Roland Johnson, head of the department of Business Education and Office Administration.

Registration for the spring semester at WTSU is Jan. 11-12. The Certified Professional Secretary rating is recognized as the measurement standard of proficiency for the secretarial profession, says Dr. Johnson.

The CPS Examination is developed and administered exclusively by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries on the first Friday and Saturday in May each year at officially designated test centers located at colleges and universities in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. WTSU is an officially designated center.

Seven Locals Advance To Band Try-Outs

Seven Canyon High School band members advanced to area try-outs for all-state band Saturday at West Texas State University.

They were Brad Garner, Cindy Johnson, Doug White, Mike Ward, Leslie Baird, Vern Zimmerman and John King.

Alternates are Sheryl Sommer and Charles Pigg. High school musicians try for all-state band auditions on two levels — first at region and then if chosen at region, they audition Jan. 19 in Lubbock at the area try-outs for full-fledged membership in the all-state band.

Steve Baird of CHS has already been chosen for membership in all-state orchestra this year.

All-state band, orchestra and choir will perform in February in Houston at the annual convention of the Texas Music Educators Association.

Bufs Host UTA In Home Game Then Start MVC Play Saturday

West Texas State University's Buffaloes start the final phase of their current nine-game home stand by hosting the University of Texas at Arlington Mavericks in a non-conference basketball game at 7:30 p.m. today in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum.

The Buffaloes open Missouri Valley Conference play Saturday in the Civic Center against North Texas State. They close their home stay Monday against New Mexico Highlands.

West Texas lost a narrow 53-49 decision to nationally ranked

Woman Seeks Treasury Job

A former Randall County tax office employee, Mrs. Fern Patterson, 51, of northwest of Canyon, announced Monday she will be a Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Incumbent Ruth Hill has yet to announce her intentions in the coming election. She is also a Democrat.

A native of Miami, Tex., Mrs.

Mrs. Fern Patterson

Patterson attended schools there. She attended West Texas State University and Draughton's Business College in Oklahoma City.

Her mother was county treasurer in Miami for 24 years. Mrs. Patterson has been employed by Wilson and Co. of Oklahoma City, at West Texas State University and in the county tax office.

She has been a county resident 22 years.

Mrs. Patterson said she's basing her campaign on her abilities to do the functions of the office and her honesty.

"I am honest and that's what I'm going to run on," she said.

She is a member of Bell Ave. Baptist Church.

She and her husband have two married children.

Memphis State Saturday night in the Civic Center and that decision made the Buffs' record 4-2. The Buffaloes overcame an early 10-point bulge by Memphis State, 20-10, and outplayed the Tigers during most of the remaining time.

Reginald Ramey led the Buffs against Memphis with 19 points and 11 rebounds. He had hit 156 points in Thursday's 72-67 win over Hardin-Simmons. The 6-8 sophomore is scoring 16.5 points per game and averaging 7.8 rebounds.

Howard Taylor, the team's leading scorer, shot in 24 points against Hardin-Simmons and tallied 12 in Saturday's loss to Memphis State. He has a 16.8 scoring mark for the year.

Sophomore Dallas Smith, who didn't start until the season's third game, is scoring 9.3 points per game and leads the team in rebounding with an 8.2 average. Guard Joe Cooley is scoring 8.2 points per game and averaging 7.5 rebounds.

Texas-Arlington got off to a slow start, losing its first five games, but rebounded with an 85-70 win over previously unbeaten Fresno State. Maverick coach Barry Dowd has been starting one senior, a junior college transfer and three freshmen.

"The win over Fresno should give us a little momentum," said Dowd. "I knew we'd be inexperienced, but I didn't think it would take as long as it did for us to get it together. I knew we had good talent, but we can't let up at all."

The Mavericks host Southeast Oklahoma Tuesday night before traveling to West Texas for the Thursday night contest.

Michael Long, 6-7, 220-pound freshman from Houston Wheatley, is leading the Mavericks in scoring with a 14.8 average and is pulling in 6.8 rebounds. Junior College transfer Jerry Johnson (6-6 and 185) is scoring 12.2 points per game and leads the team in rebounding with a 10.0 average. Senior guard Ronnie Marsh is scoring 10.5 points per game.

Other starters against Fresno were freshmen Robert Jammer, a 6-8, 208-pounder, and Willie Davis, a 5-9 guard. Jammer is scoring 5.8 points per game and Davis has a 5.3 scoring mark.

Amarilloan Files For Office

A Randall County resident for 22 years, Otha Barbee, of 6311 Elmhurst in Amarillo, tossed his hat into the political ring Monday when he announced he will seek election as county commissioner for precinct 2.

The seat is currently held by John Fulgenzi of Amarillo, a Republican. Barbee is a Democrat.

Barbee, a native of Rule and graduate of Rule High School, said he has "no bone of contention with the way things are running."

"I want to be of service to the people," he said.

Barbee received a degree in physical education and administrative education from Howard Payne College and taught school and coached for four years.

He was in the service three years during World War II and moved to Amarillo in 1946.

He is currently manager of the Texas-Oklahoma Express Motor Freight, a firm he has been with five years. Prior to joining the firm he was manager of the ICX for more than 20 years.

Barbee is a member of the Downtown Rotary Club in Amarillo and the Amarillo Motor Carriers Association.

He is a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Schools' Self Evaluation Nearing The Final Stages

By ANN MELIN
As they enter the final stages of a massive self-evaluation program, most Canyon public school teachers seem to regard the intense, self-scrutinizing process a highly therapeutic "pain in the neck."

The study, which began last year, is being made as part of the requirement for accreditation by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, which requires that such a school-wide self-evaluation program be undertaken every ten years by member schools.

The last self-evaluation project was taken during the 1963-64 academic year, and its findings resulted in unqualified accreditation for the Canyon schools at all levels.

According to a school spokesman, the Canyon schools are among the few systems in the Panhandle and West Texas area that have so far been given total accreditation on elementary and secondary levels.

How does a school go about the process of turning inward and assessing its curriculum, evaluating its goals and philosophy, and making projections into its future role in the community?

According to the spokesman, the major thrust of the program is determined by a steering committee comprised of about 20 faculty members and administrators under the chairmanship of Herman Demus, CJHS mathematics instructor.

In addition, there exists a number of major committees including those on guidance, plant and facilities, staff and administration, student activities and curriculum.

As adjuncts to the curriculum committee, a number of minor committees exist for the purpose of probing each of the various study areas, including English, social studies, art, science, mathematics and many other subjects.

Each minor committee consists of from three to eight faculty members charged with the task of answering "probing questions" about each course offered in the school curriculum. The questions are designed to explore the effectiveness of the instructor, of teaching materials and the overall presentation of course material, school officials say.

Each class is also evaluated from the student point of view. In compiling their subject matter reports, committee members attempt to find out to what extent students have the opportunity to participate in setting up goals and objectives in the courses they are taking.

After exploring course effectiveness from a variety of standpoints, the committee members compile summary reports. According to school officials, these are all due in this month.

The first work of the self-evaluation program was undertaken by two committees, the philosophy and objectives committee and the school and community committee.

After conducting a survey of students, parents and teachers, the philosophy and objectives committee compiled a written statement of what was believed to be the philosophy of the total Canyon system, and what were the objectives for each of the campuses.

The school and community committee was responsible for evaluating the place of the school within the community, a spokesman said.

According to school officials

WT Dept. Gets Grant

West Texas State University Accounting Department has received a $1,400 grant from the Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company of New York.

C. James Manns of the Amarillo office of the national CPA firm presented the check to Dr. James Davis, head of the Accounting Department and Drs. Eldon Lewis, Dean of the School of Business, and Lloyd Watkins, WTSU president.

The donation came primarily from former WTSU students working with the company, with matching funds from the PM&M Education Foundation.

The $1,400 will go into the Accounting Development Fund, and will be used to "strengthen the department in various ways," says Davis.

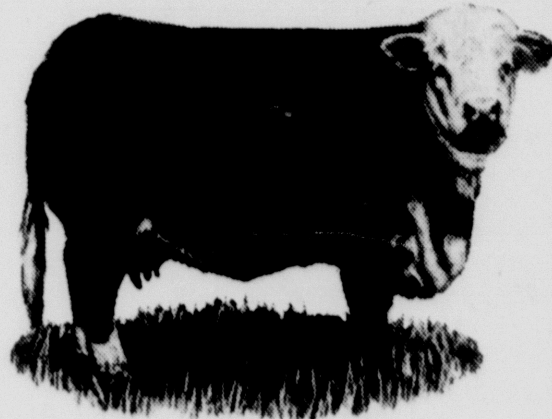

Possible uses of the funds would be to send professors to professional meetings, attract new professors to WTSU or to help design programs for and the general improvement of the accounting curriculum, according to Davis.

"Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company has consistently employed many of our superior accounting graduates, not only in the Amarillo office, but also in Fort Worth, Austin and Albuquerque," Davis added.

City Airman Now In Spain

Airman First Class Teddy D. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Walker Jr., Rt. 4, Canyon, has arrived for duty at Torrejon AB, Spain.
Airman Walker, a weapons mechanic, is assigned to a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe. He previously served at McChord AFB, Wash.
The airman, a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School, attended West Texas State University.
His wife, Peggy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carrolle Brown, 3611 S. Virginia, Amarillo.

Airman Gets Promotion

Walter M. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon Jr., 911 Sixth Ave., has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.
Airman Miller, a jet engine mechanic, is on duty at Webb AFB, Tex., with a unit of the Air Training Command.
A 1970 graduate of Canyon High School, he attended the University of Oklahoma.
His wife, Susan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hayes, 1111 Hillcrest Drive, Canyon.

night and sleep late in the A.M.'s. Got to eat how and when the ol' mood dictated. Got fat. Got to play games and visit and simply loll around. Got to ignore the nit pickin' schedule. No more. All gone. All over. Back to the daily grind. Back to "that" time. Drats.

TRISSA SHOTT CALLED to invite all interested persons to attend the upcoming meeting of the North Plains Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. Such meeting will be January 17th at 7:30 p.m. in Snodgrass Hall at the First Christian Church. The program will be presented by Shirley Fancher on "A Parent's View". All parents of children with learning disabilities, or anyone else interested in such learning disabilities, are welcome to attend.

THE ASSOCIATION MEETS once a month on the third Thursday of each month, and usually has a speaker who presents community resources and various materials relating to learning disabilities. The purpose of the association is to obtain better programs in our schools relating to this problem.

SPEAKING OF GOING somewhere — better hurry to the Art Center. This is the last week you will be able to view the fabulous Aubusson Tapestries, as same will depart Amarillo this Sunday. The costumed dolls of the Near East and the brass rubbings will remain on display through January. Those tapestries are the greatest. Worth a trip to the center, located on the Amarillo College campus area.

DARLYNE AND GEORGE Bell and all the Bell boys greatly enjoyed hosting their annual family reunion on New Year's Day. About 21 relatives came through the snow and staved off hunger pangs with a home-grown, home-cooked turkey the Bells prepared. Lots of good fun, eating, playing games and reminiscing.

REALLY ONLY MENTIONED Darlyne, cause you need to know that she became a year older on December 20th. Hee hee. Ho ho. She tried to sneak this one by, but got caught. Granted, she got caught rather late, but caught nonetheless! Many happy to you, Darlyne. (Seriously).

MISS ELIZABETH WILSON, our pretty librarian at Gene Howe, has indulged in a birthday, too. Her day was on January 7th. Many more, pretty lady.

LORI THOMAS, DAUGHTER of Linda and Bert Thomas, became eight big years old on the 4th. Weather limited her to family swats on that day, but there may be a party in the planning. What this about "may be"? More later. Many happyes, Lori.

MR. AND MRS. Carlton Kenon gave son Mike eight swats in recognition of his day on the 6th. Or was that eight hugs? He was eight years old anyway, and about ten of his peers came to help him celebrate and to enjoy the party eats and games.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY WISHES to Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Purcell, who observe same today.
YET ANOTHER HAPPY to Lisa Detten. Everything's coming up sevens for this young lady; she was seven years old on the seventh, and celebrated with a family party. The birthday girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Detten.

REMEMBER WHEN THE youngsters embarked on the very first sewing adventure? Remember the soppy wet thread? Remember the huge, slightly soiled knots? Remember vain stabs at the needle's eye with a ragged thread end? These tidbits were recalled upon helping darling daughter with her knitting project. And, someday, when her first "made-it-myself" sweater is being proudly worn, will fondly remember the sticky needles. And the stringy, frazzled yarn. And the tight, tight stitches. All of which accompanied her tediously done, but finished, first undertaking.

CALL 352-6053 WITH the news; or, someone will gather her marbles and go home.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

City Boxers Host Tournament Fri, Sat.

Thirteen Canyon boxers will don the gloves Friday and Saturday night when they host their own tournament with boxers from five other cities expected to fight.

Boxers from Lefors, Plainview, Stinnett, Borger and Clarendon are due in town for the two-night bouts.

Fights begin at 8 p.m. each night at the boxing club gym, 801 23rd Street. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

Proceeds from the fights go to help the local boxers enter other area tournaments.

Tickets are available from members of the Noon Lions Club, the Randall County sheriff's office, Canyon Police Department, WTSU bookstore, Shell's Pharmacy, Anthony's, Taylor & Sons Food and the Village Inn. Canyon boxers who will compete during the tourney include Billy Metcalf in the 50-

About 70 boxers will compete during the two nights for trophies.

During action last weekend, the Canyon boxers brought home two championships and five runner-up trophies.

Ted and Eddie Clement won championships in their weight divisions. Joe Doss, Robert Johnson, Johnnie Johnson, Billy Metcalf and Todd Nix won runner-up honors in their divisions.

Local Coach is Zeke Clement.

CPA Exam Courses To Be Given At WT

Review courses for the Certified Public Accountant examination to be given in May are being offered by the West Texas State University Accounting Department during the spring semester.

Persons interested in a thorough review of Accounting Theory are encouraged to register for Accounting 506, offered Thursdays at 7 p.m. Dr. Albert R. Mitchell, professor of accounting, will instruct the course.

Corporate Taxation will be discussed in Accounting 312, Advanced Income Tax. The Wednesday evening course will be taught by Arthur J. Glover, assistant professor of accounting.

Regular tuition will be charged for Accounting 506 and 312. Special review sessions in auditing and business law will also be offered through the Accounting Department, according to Dr. James B. Davis, head of the department.

Twenty-one hours of review in each topic will be offered on Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. Dr. Lewis will conduct the auditing sessions from January 22 - March 5, and Glover will conduct the law review from March 12 - May 7.

One may register for either or both sessions. Registration fee for each class is $40.

For a review of practice, the department offers 84 hours Monday and Friday evenings from 7-10 p.m., January 21 - May 6.

The sessions will be team taught by the accounting faculty. Registration fee is $100.

Included in the topics to be covered in the practice periods are financial statements, correction errors, incomplete records, current assets, governmental and institutional accounting, production costs, ownership equities, taxation and fixed assets.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the WTSU Accounting Department, Box 187, Canyon, 79016, or telephone 656-2754.

Canyon Capers Danced Monday

The Canyon Capers Square Dance Club danced Monday night to the calling of Knox Day with Lewis Thomas, Leroy Pitt, and Jack Hardin each calling a tip.

Visitors included Bob and Betty White, Red and Dorothy Pechard, Walter and Betty Ledford, Jim and Ladell Bradshaw, Jack and Gle Hardin and Catherine and Bob Jones from the Khiva Squares of Amarillo.

Budget Worries Semester Work For Watkins

Budget-making is one of the primary areas of concern for Dr. Lloyd Watkins, new president of West Texas State University, as he enters his second semester at the university.

First priority is finalization of the summer budget although preliminary figures are already readied.

The budget for the 1974-75 school year must also be finalized during the term. And, during the summer, the university must present its proposals for 1975-76 to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Marion Bruce Bruce Seeks Election To Demo. Post

Current chairman of the Randall County Democratic Executive Committee, Marion Bruce, has announced his candidacy for the chairmanship of the county Democratic party.

Bruce, a native of Randall County, lives just outside the Amarillo city limits.

He has been a county delegate to the Texas party convention since 1956 and attended the Democratic national conventions in 1960 and 1964.

Bruce served for many years as a member of the Randall County board of school trustees and he was chairman of the group. He has also served on the tax equalization board for the Canyon Independent School District.

A lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis International in 1961, Bruce is also a member of that group's Legion of Merit, in honor of his 25 years of perfect attendance.

He is chairman of the citizens group work and recreation council of the Potter-Randall Citizens Committee. He has also served as president of the Friends of Youth, which works with the Potter County court of domestic relations. In addition, he has coached Kids, Inc. sports teams and was president of the board of the Amarillo Community Center.

Bruce has served as a worker in the United Fund drive in Amarillo and other civic drives.

He has been a Milking Short-horn breeder since 1936 and is a qualified judge of the breed, having judged fairs in most of the Western states, including the Texas State Fair in Dallas.

HELLO, AGAIN, FROM Umbarger. How do you like the new time change? I, for one, don't really care for it. Looks like we, in this part of the country, will use up what electricity and gas that the rest of the country is saving, at least for the few months of short winter days.

THE CONFRATERNITY OF Christian Doctrine classes are sponsoring a film, "Natural Family Planning by the Ovulation Method", on Wednesday evening, Jan. 16, at 7:30, in St. Mary's Parish hall. Mrs. Cyril Brockman, from Nazareth, who is a registered nurse, will be there to discuss the film and answer any questions concerning the film. The C.C.D. classes take this opportunity to cordially invite the public to attend. The film is prepared by Dr. John Billings.

ST. MARY'S ALTAR Society and Christian Mothers will meet on Monday, Jan. 14, at 7:00 p.m. The guest speaker for the evening will be Father Bertin Kolle, Director of the Arch Confraternity of Christian Mothers. At this meeting, new members will be enrolled in the Christian Mothers. Any Catholic lady, single or married, is eligible for membership and she need not be a member of the Altar Society. The enrollment will open the evening program, followed by the talk by Father Kolle. The meeting will follow. For more information, call Mrs. R.E. Friemel at 499-2643.

SOME TWO HUNDRED friends and relatives of E.J. Friemel gathered last Sunday afternoon in the parish hall to help him celebrate his ninetieth birthday. All of his children were there and all but about twelve of his fifty-six grandchildren, thirty-nine great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, were there. The pictures of his entire family were displayed on a special table. The floral centerpiece was made up of roses, seven gold roses for each living member of the family and five Tropicana roses, one for each deceased member of his family. His birthday cake was centered with a "shock of wheat" and was complete with ninety candles.

MR. FRIEMEL'S CELEBRATION started Sunday morning with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, offered by Father Schafle. At noon, a dinner was served to his family and other relatives. The reception was followed by supper for the family and relatives, all in the parish hall. Mr. Friemel says he owes his long life to plenty of fresh air and sunshine, which as a farmer, he has enjoyed all his life. He is looking forward to Spring, when he will again work in his yard, garden and large orchard. He is a devoted Catholic and attends Mass daily. He has accepted and enjoys all of the changes in the Catholic Church. He loves people and enjoys visiting and playing dominoes. Mr. Friemel and his family would like to say "thank you" for all the prayers and good wishes and to all who helped to make his celebration a success.

MRS. ANN EVERS and son, Donnie, have returned from Springdale, Arkansas, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Clara Hess, on her eightieth birthday. Mrs. Hess is a "younger" sister of E.J. Friemel. Mrs. Evers said that Arkansas was icy and snowy the whole time she was there. She visited each of her brothers and sisters while she was there.

WE HAD A nice surprise Monday afternoon. My nephew, Richard Myers, from Granada Hills, California, and his friend Wesley Combs from Tahlequah, Okla., stopped in for a visit. They are en route from California to Pascagoula, Miss. Richard will go into the Air Force in March and will be stationed at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, for basic training.

THE BERNARD HARTMANS and the Andy Raefs have returned from Denver, Colorado. They reported icy streets, lots of snow on the ground and it snowed while they were there.
